Awaken your senses in Southern Québec

In southern Québec, three regions—Montérégie, Eastern Townships and Centre-du-Québec—await you, each with a rich palette of experiences. This is a place where unique flavours and sites bursting with colour come together, a destination that's all about discovering life with the locals and getting a taste of the products of the land. In this region stretching from the south shore of the St. Lawrence River to the U.S. border, there are pastoral scenes around every corner. The destination is easily accessible from the major urban centres of Montréal and Québec City.

On Friday, start your tour in Montérégie and have an authentic Québec experience with a visit and lunch at the Sucrerie de la Montagne sugar shack. Their traditional log cabins are set in a 120-acre maple forest attached to a sugar shack, where they demonstrate how maple syrup is made.

Enjoy an afternoon at the Strøm Spa Nordique in Mont Saint-Hilaire, a uniquely relaxing experience in the heart of nature only a short drive from Montréal. Combining a Nordic spa and urban living, this wellness centre rejuvenates body and mind.

In the evening, the Le Coureur des Bois restaurant welcomes you for a bistronomic meal highlighted by the best wine cellar in Québec, winner of a Wine Spectator Grand Award as one of the top 100 in the world.

Then head to the Eastern Townships on Saturday for a visit to l'Abbaye de Saint-Benoît-du-Lac, an abbey at the site overlooking Lake Memphremagog where Benedictine monks from France founded a monastery in 1912. The modern structure pays tribute to the harmony of natural geometric forms and makes splendid use of multicoloured bricks. The tour includes a tasting of cider and cheeses made on-site by the monks.

In the afternoon, put on your hiking shoes, as you will be exploring Parc national du Mont-Orford. An abundance of animal species live in or pass through the park's diverse natural environments. Explore this magnificent protected territory in a discovery activity led by one of the park wardens.

And what could be better than sipping an aperitif in Québec's wine country? At the Le Cep D'argent vineyard, winemakers Jean-Paul and François Scieur bring the flair of their native Champagne to serve up a unique sensory experience that is a full-bodied journey of discovery.

On Sunday head to the Centre-du-Québec region. Along the way, stop at the Fromagerie du Presbytère for a tasting and an amazing visit. In 2005, the Morin family decided to give the old presbytery a new life and a new vocation by turning it into a cheese dairy. Their national-award-winning cheeses are aged in the former church.

A lunch stop at the Rose Café is a must in Drummondville. Enjoy a meal of unequalled freshness featuring vegetables grown in their greenhouses and gardens. There is also a superb selection of coffees from selected roasters.

End your journey on a high note at the Manoir du lac William. Combine adventure and relaxation at this resort nestled in the foothills of the Appalachian Mountains by Lake William. Bring your bathing suit to enjoy the indoor pool and Nordic spas.

On Monday, after breakfast, head to Québec City.
